

Intent

Facade is a structural design pattern that provides a simplified interface to a library, a framework, or any other complex set of classes.

Structure

Applicability

- Use the Facade pattern when you need to have a limited but straightforward interface to a complex subsystem.
- Use the Facade when you want to structure a subsystem into layers.